Rolf Harris was in Kingston on Saturday, signing copies of his new book and raising money for a local charity.

The TV celebrity was in Borders in Market Place to promote his book, Rolf On Art, and gave a couple of signed copies away to the Princess Alice Hospice in Esher.

More than 200 people waited patiently to get their book signed. Marek Bublik, the store's marketing assistant manager, said: "There was a queue from the very front of the shop to the very back for the whole duration."

Original Beatles drummer Pete Best will be in the shop on November 28 and Joan Collins is set to return next month.
